

Battle Begins for 'Love' of African Hordes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United States and Russia squared off yesterday for a historic contest for the affections of 64,000,000 newly freed Africans which may determine eventual control of the United Nations.

High American officials said this grim contest for prestige in restless Africa, although not as spectacular as expected fireworks over the disarmament issue, marks a crossroads for the world organization.

The communist bloc for the moment had the heavier propaganda guns on the firing line, headed by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. He was reported by aides to be planning a strong pitch to woo the Africans into neutralism or alignment with the communist bloc.

But U.S. officials were cheered by tactical victories on the African front which they said had badly damaged Russian prestige in that turbulent area. The American officials were placing high hopes on President Eisenhower's speech next Thursday to the general assembly. He is expected to urge the new nations to think and act for themselves and avoid entrapment in any bloc.

At least 14 new African nations will be admitted to the UN at the session beginning today. This will bring total membership to 97, almost double the 50 which signed the charter 15 years ago.

But even more important, it will raise to 42 the number of Asian-African Nations in the UN and give that bloc controlling voice on any issues on which it takes a solid stand.

Khrushchev, who has the monolithic bloc of nine communist states in his pocket and can count on occasional "defections" from other groups, hungrily eyes the newly expanded Asian-African line-up. It could give him a solid majority on any issue on which he could pull it in. The wooing of the Africans by both sides is expected to be intense.

American officials acknowledge that their "built-in" majority of the past—23 western bloc votes and 20 Latin American ballots—is not enough now. And even the Latin Americans—as witness Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro—cannot be counted on as a solid phalanx.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter believes that events of the past week in Africa and at the UN have considerably weakened Russia's position and hopes that the president can add to the erosion.

South Africa Welcome as Republic

John D Drops Hint

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker last night said it was "more crucial than ever before" that the British Commonwealth continue as a bridge between the nations of the West and the emerging underdeveloped nations.

Diefenbaker told the second Commonwealth and Empire Law Conference that civilization would suffer if the roots of commonwealth unity were "to wither and die."

REFERENDUM

In a reference to the forthcoming South African referendum to decide whether that nation would become a republic, Diefenbaker gave strong indications that approval would be given by other Commonwealth members for South Africa to stay in the Commonwealth as a republic.

The fact "should be emphasized," Diefenbaker said, that all member states agreed to allow South Africa to apply for Commonwealth membership if it attained republican status. "As consent to membership requires unanimity, these words become significant and important," he added.

EXPRESS VIEWS

It was essential, the prime minister warned, "that Commonwealth countries should not interfere in the internal affairs of any other Commonwealth country." Canadians, however, "may still express our view of what is right and just."

"We will all have to be tolerant of differences," he said. "We will have to face the fact that the varied individual circumstances of the member nations of the Commonwealth may well mean that they will be compelled to adopt a variety of policies to deal with those circumstances."

RAPID INCREASE

The rapidly increasing number of Commonwealth members, Diefenbaker said, posed great problems of organization which could limit the informality of prime ministers' conferences. "Will it be possible," he asked, "to conduct the deliberations as frankly and profitably as hitherto?"

"We will all have to be tolerant of differences," he said.

Surprises Likely In Nikita's Speech

By HENRY SHAPIRO

NEW YORK (UPI) — Immediately after his arrival in New York, Premier Nikita Khrushchev locked himself up in conference with his staff and advisers to put the final touches on his major disarmament speech to be delivered to the United Nations Assembly on Friday.

Informed sources expect the Soviet premier to introduce some new, if not spectacular, proposals to make his plan for total disarmament more acceptable to the West.

He is likely to make a special appeal for the support of the newly-admitted Afro-Asian nations who will be attracted by his offer to use the economies resulting from disarmament to aid underdeveloped areas.

There is no evidence to believe that the Kremlin plans any basic alterations of Khrushchev's grandiose four-year disarmament proposal submitted to the United Nations Sept. 18, 1959 and somewhat modified on June 3, 1960.

In its latest form the Soviet plan calls for a three-stage disarmament program with top priority given to the banning and destruction of the means of delivery of nuclear weapons.

Another Summit In '61?

WASHINGTON (CP)

—The Earl of Home, Britain's new foreign secretary, Monday raised the possibility that a new summit conference may take place in 1961, providing Soviet Premier Khrushchev shows "proof" of his intention to negotiate in good faith.

After conferring with President Eisenhower, Lord Home indicated the president may call on Khrushchev to get back to hard-rock negotiations on disarmament and other issues.

Surprise Vote Beats Reds

UN Supports Dag On Congo Issue

Afro-Asian Motion Demands Only Assistance by UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The General Assembly's emergency session, in a surprise vote, early today approved an Afro-Asian resolution backing Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's Congo policy and calling for an end to military aid to the country except through the United Nations.

The vote was 70 to 0 with 11 abstentions. South Africa and France joined the nine-nation Soviet bloc in abstaining.

Passage of the resolution wound up the emergency session of the world parliament summoned into session Saturday night by the United States after the Soviet Union had vetoed a similar resolution in the Security Council.

The emergency session concluded only hours before the Assembly was to start—at noon PDT—its brass-studded regular 15th session with a parade of diplomatic stars of the Communist and neutralist countries headed by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin backtracked in the face of the massive Afro-Asian support thrown behind Hammarskjöld.

The surprise end to the showdown between Russia and the United States was interpreted by most diplomats as a victory for both Hammarskjöld and the United States, helped along by the Kremlin's reluctance to offend the uncommitted countries either of Africa or Asia.

Zorin, at the last moment, withdrew his own resolution which was sharply critical of Hammarskjöld. Then, after offering a series of amendments beefing up the Afro-Asian resolution in Russia's behalf, he withdrew them at the request of Ghana.

To Harlem

Castro Stalks Out

NEW YORK (AP)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro stalked angrily out of a New York hotel Monday night, complaining of the prices and his tight security guard.

After a conference with United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, Castro announced that his party was moving to a hotel in the heart of Harlem, New York's Negro district.

PREARRANGED

Edward Spatz, owner of the Hotel Shelburne, where Castro had stayed for 24 hours, charged at a press conference that the departure was "a prearranged propaganda move" designed to embarrass the United States on the eve of the 15th UN General Assembly meeting starting today.

As Castro left, he threatened to "import tens of thousands of live Central Park or on the UN grounds."

DISCOURTESY

Cuba's Foreign Minister, Raul Roa, charged that the Castro party had been treated with discourtesy and inhospitability.

Spatz was not available for some time after Castro left the hotel. A spokesman explained that he was at his doctor's office, being treated for an ulcer. Spatz said Sunday he had agreed reluctantly to have Castro and his party as guests at the request of Hammarskjöld and U.S. State Secretary Christian Herter.

The Castro party had taken 20 rooms in the hotel, each at $20 a day.

Laundryman Envoy

Even Congo Delegate Kinda Confused

PARIS (Reuters) — A disgruntled member of one of the two rival Congolese delegations to the United Nations returned here by air from New York Sunday and confessed he found Congolese politics "much too complex."

"I run a laundry," said Robert Kinda, a member of the delegation supporting Patrice

Lumumba and led by Thomas Kanza.

"Fifteen days ago, Kanza—a client of mine for whom I'd done some private work—came and asked 'If I'd like to serve on the Congolese delegation going to New York.' Kinda explained, 'I'd never seen the United States and so I accepted.'

"Kanza said 'You will be my boy and my secretary and so you will never leave me and you will be able to take part in all of the meetings.' So I closed my shop and I left."

"Then one day in the corridors of the UN I met some other Congolese. They told me they were the only representatives of the Congo government, presided over by Joseph Leo and named by President Joseph Kasavubu.

"That's all very well. But I am a friend of Kasavubu and I was under the impression that Kanza was obeying his orders."

"Then I learned several days ago that Kasavubu and Lumumba were no longer in power and that a colonel whom I don't know had taken over.

I got confused and decided to return home."

"So I told Kanza who ordered me—in a threatening tone—to stay and continue to obey him. Then I went and placed myself under the protection of the American police."

"The American police hid me until I could come here."

"All I want now is to return to Leopoldville and my laundry."

Refreshingly New

Whether the controversial subject behind our latest publicity slogan, "Captain Discovery," really existed or he or she a gentleman of distinction, an unprincipled scoundrel, or merely a British sloop, is perhaps beside the point. The important thing is that Mr. Hawkins has injected something new into our Island publicity, an element that has been sorely lacking for a number of years—a fresh commonsense approach to tourism.

Certainly the old slogan, "Follow the Birds to Victoria," has served its purpose admirably, but like any phrase or motto it can become hackneyed through overuse. Moreover, though the birds are still winging their way to our Island it is reasonable to assume that many tourists are also pursuing birds of various domestic loyalties. After all, Victoria has no priority on our feathered friends; they still manage to inhabit other tourist centres.

What is basically essential to a healthy tourist business is originality. Obviously—in our new slogan we have just that. For who else can lay claim to Captain Discovery?

Tourists are practical people with extremely fertile minds. They crave the unique, the nostalgic; they revel in historical romanticism. Their imaginations are stirred and stimulated by red-blooded chivalrous phantoms, be they fact or myth.

Mr. Hawkins should be commended and criticized for his efforts, and for his new slogan that is both sound and refreshing.

Treasure Island

I would like to voice my opinion regarding "Treasure Island" as the slogan to describe our beautiful Vancouver Island. I don't like it. It isn't suitable. It wouldn't surprise me to see tourists arrive here armed with picks and shovels and start to dig for treasure.

The whole set-up here is very confusing anyway. It should be Victoria Island. Why not "Island of Paradise." That's what it is—a paradise of flowers, green lawns, trees, ivy and serenity.

Keep Park Quiet

Whether the Hyde Park Corner in Beacon Hill Park is a serious suggestion or a fantasy of the "Silly Season" I do not know. Any such suggestion calls for careful consideration before such a project is undertaken. It means more than setting aside a place for all those who want to air their favorite topic. So many of these individuals are "setters forth of strange doctrine" and our young people hear more than enough of these to bewilder and confuse them before they have even left school.

Another point, in London each group has on the outskirts an unobtrusive but observant policeman. I doubt your Victoria police would welcome such an assignment, especially if it involves Sunday morning, which is a favorite time for outdoor speakers airing their views. It would also provide a grand opportunity for the subversive and communist. So far Beacon Hill Park has been a quiet retreat for those who love the flowers and trees. To my way of thinking it would be far better to keep it as a restful spot for the aged and contemplative.

If there must be a Hyde Park here some location could be chosen in that part of the city where raucous voices would be less out of keeping than in our quiet park.

Clocked at 82 'Not in Hurry'

DUNCAN—A Victoria sales man who said he "wasn't in a hurry" while driving at 82 miles an hour had his driver's licence suspended for 30 days on a speeding charge here yesterday.

Arthur D. Dawe's plea that "I can't make a living" without a car failed to sway Magistrate A. C. Sutton, who also imposed a $45 fine.

"We've got to put a stop to this reckless driving," the magistrate said. "The only way to do it is to put you off the road."

The offence to which Dawe pleaded guilty occurred near Mill Bay in a 60 zone on the Trans-Canada Highway.

Drive-In Racetrack Colwood 'Natural'

A "drive-in racetrack" at "About 5,000 came out there," which patrons could watch horse-racing from their cars was visualized yesterday for the Colwood Park exhibition ground by Ald. Geoffrey Edgell.

Ald. Edgell, president of the B.C. Agricultural Association, expressed delight at the number who turned out Sunday for an afternoon's entertainment at the fairgrounds. The program was arranged to let Victorians see the recreational potential of the 140-acre grounds.

The agricultural association plans to seek government grants to erect facilities for a Class B Fair in the fall of 1961 and a Class A fair thereafter.

"It would be the most natural drive-in racetrack in North America," he said. The property could be terraced so people could watch from their cars and wouldn't have to struggle into grandstands.

Disputed Bylaws Coming

Drafts of two proposed new city bylaws in controversial fields are expected to be ready for consideration in the next two weeks.

A draft sign bylaw—the fourth prepared—will be submitted to public works committee before the next city council meeting, assistant city engineer Roderick Clark said yesterday.

This draft has been in preparation since a public hearing at which sign company representatives and an electrician's spokesman favored a third draft, but others attacked it as providing too little control over signs.

The other proposed bylaw is on smoke and cinders.

More rigid—If approved, it will supplant the city's present anti-smoke bylaw, probably with considerably more rigid restrictions. This draft, Mr. Clark said, likely will be considered by the smoke abatement advisory committee and public works committee around the end of the month.

Jittery Stock Market

Plunges to 1960 Low

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, apprehensive over the business outlook and what might develop on the international scene, plunged Monday to a 1960 low. Heavy trading accompanied the steep slide.

The stock market's "triple bottom" was smashed Monday as the Dow Jones industrial average plunged to a low for the year and took the worst beating since Sept. 26, 1955, when the market "reel" on news of a President Eisenhower heart attack.

The so-called "triple bottom" was formed on stock charts by sharp rallies which followed declines in March, May and July to about the 600 level in the Dow industrials.

Monday the industrials topped 154.2 to 154.09—their worst setback since the 318.88 loss in 1955.

Superior Oil of California dropped 39 points to 855. In-Statistics said yesterday.

Cigar sales in the January-June period rose from last year's 144,162,000 to 151,260,000, while cut tobacco sales climbed from 11,168,000 pounds to 11,415,000.

Cigaret Sales Climbing

OTTAWA (UPI)—Cigaret sales, as indicated by excise revenue stamps payments, increased to 17,019,264,000 cigarettes in the first half of the year, up from 16,896,330,000 a year ago, the Bureau of Statistics said yesterday.

Cigar sales in the January-June period rose from last year's 144,162,000 to 151,260,000, while cut tobacco sales climbed from 11,168,000 pounds to 11,415,000.

By UPLAP
NEW YORK Dripping skies, official silence and leering citizens greeted Soviet Premier Khrushchev when he arrived in the U.S. Monday with a call for disarmament.

Not a single city, state or federal official was on hand at a dingy, rain-soaked pier when Khrushchev disembarked, made a short speech, and drove through nearly deserted streets to the Soviet UN embassy on Park Avenue.

SHOUT MORE
At night, when Khrushchev ventured from the legation, he was roundly booed and heckled by several hundred spectators standing across the street. He grimaced and said: "Why are they shouting? Let them shout more."

Half a block away 45 Hungarians and Russian refugees demonstrated behind police barricades. Signs carried by the chanting marchers said "K for killer" and "No welcome for butchers."

He had apparently spent the day being briefed on UN and world developments since he boarded the Soviet liner Baltika 10 days ago.

Several hundred demonstrators braved a pelting rain to gather hundreds of feet from the landing area. They were kept well back by a strong force of police and federal security agents.

NO SIGN GIVEN
The demonstrators booed and yelled "Murderer" as Khrushchev stepped ashore but the Russian leader gave no sign that he heard or saw them.

U.S. longshoremen refused to touch the Baltika, and Russian crewmen were forced to do the debarking chores. Only American of prominence present was industrialist Cyrus Eaton.

RAIN HELPED
During Khrushchev's drive from the pier, the streets, which police had expected to be crowded with anti-Khrushchev demonstrators, were kept virtually deserted by the rain.

The shed in which Khrushchev landed had been standing in disrepair for years. The city tried to cover the gaping holes in the roof and paint its weather-beaten sides but there was not enough time to fix it properly.

'Troublemakers' in U.S. So Ike Calls for Unity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower called Monday for national unity at a time when "there seem to be troublemakers trying to come to our country."

He did not name any "troublemakers." But he seemed to be referring, in a joking way, to Nikita Khrushchev and other leaders of the Communist sphere attending the UN meeting in New York.

Peking Eyes Nikita

LONDON (UPI) — Communist China maintained an icy silence but watchful eye on Nikita Khrushchev's arrival at the UN Monday, according to experts here.

They noted that Peking has ignored the Soviet leader's campaign to rally around him members of the Communist bloc.

The silence, maintained by the Chinese radio and press except for the terse announcement of Khrushchev's arrival, was interpreted as indicating disapproval of his initiative.

In London, Defence Minister V. K. Krishna Menon of India said, before flying to the UN, that India is ready to support the admission of Communist China.

Prime Minister Nehru will follow him to the UN Sunday.

Recently a member of the *CAAA placed an advertisement for a large financial institution in CDNPA member newspapers at a cost of $4,300.

Cougars to Go It Alone, Expect 21 for Training

Professional hockey players are about as hard to find as a Communist in the Uplands, but George Agar didn't quite come back empty-handed from an eastern trip.

The freshman coach of the Victoria Cougars arrived home over the weekend after spending some time at the St. Catharines training camp of the Chicago Black Hawks and paying visits to Peterborough, Welland and Niagara Falls, where Toronto Maple Leafs, Buffalo Bisons and Springfield Indians are working out.

Agar came back without any working agreement with any National Hockey League club, but he did manage to get a line on enough players so that his club will have 24 or more bodies on hand when it opens its training camp at Vernon a week from next Friday, on Sept. 30.

In what could be his most important transaction, Agar made a third deal with Calgary Stampede, who have already yielded two veterans—defenceman Hugh Giesse and right-winger Jackie McLeod—in previous bargaining.

This time, the Cougars gave up their first-year rights to rookie defenceman Ed Van Impe. In return, they will get a sophomore defenceman and a sophomore right-winger, to be named later this week.

"I felt," Agar said, "that if we have to go with two rookies

(a league rule) that I would prefer to have them both on the forward line and pack as much experience as I can get on the defence."

Undoubtedly helping in this conviction is the fact that if all goes well the Cougars will have at least six defencemen from which to choose four they will keep, that plus the potential being shown in training camp by rookie Bert Fizzell.

Fizzell is a tall (6'1") and rough 190-pounder who caught Agar's eye at the Chicago camp and earned a professional chance although at 19 he could still play another year of junior hockey. Important, too, is the fact that he plays left wing, where the Cougars are the shortest.

Don Wilson, like Fizzell a Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League star last season, is the other rookie Agar is planning to keep. And Agar plans to have the speedy high-scoring 19 and 50 goals, respectively, last season youngsters flanking Paul Masnick.

Masnick finished last season with the Cougars, replacing Arnie Schmitz at right wing on the line with Gordie Fashoway and Art Jones, and was a valuable performer as the Victoria club went all the way to the final. He has not yet signed his contract but Agar has been assured by club-owner Jim Piggott that Masnick, whose normal position is centre, will turn out with the Cougars.

Another getting a chance with the Cougars is Art Hart, a speedy left-winger who played for Seattle in the 1956-57 season and divided the next season between Seattle and Victoria. Agar feels that Hart, who was with the Port Wayne Komets last season, has an excellent chance of sticking in the Western Hockey League this season.

Agar is also giving a chance to Bill Swarbrick, who has played several seasons for him with the Northerners. It all brings to 21, exclusive of Agar, who may see part-time service, the number of players expected at training camp.

They are holdovers Marcel

Pelletier, Jim Hay, Gerry Goyer, Doug Anderson—Doug Macauley, Paul Masnick and George Ford, rookies, Jackie McLeod, Currie Swarbrick and Hart and Don McLeod, a defenceman who played here in the 1958-59 season and with Kingston of the Eastern Professional Hockey League last season.

Add the two players coming from Calgary, the two junior hopes from Saskatoon and pending deals for three veterans and it will make for some competition at training camp.

The Cougars have six right-wingers from which to pick three and feel that in Goyer, Masnick and Anderson they are well off at centre. One or two port wingers are needed but Agar believes that he will be able to make a trade by using a spare right-winger and/or defenceman as bait.

"If not," he says, "one of the right-wingers should be able to make the switch."

He has lined up five exhibition games. Eight days after training camp opens, the Cougars tackle the V's at Penetion, on Oct. 7. They play the Canadians at Vernon the next night, play the Packers at Kelowna on Oct. 10 and wind up in the Okanagan at Merritt on Oct. 11. Then it's a game against Nanaimo at Nanaimo on Wednesday, Oct. 12, and the short drive home for the league opener here, Friday, Oct. 14, against Seattle Totems.

Age Dims Cricket Picture

England Frets About Future

By ED SIMON
LONDON (CP)—In spite of a victorious Test series against South Africa, English cricket enthusiasts look to the future with trepidation.

Far from convinced of the ability of the present England eleven to cope with Australia next summer, they take an even gloomier view of the long-term picture. Today's heroes are growing old and there is a dismal shortage of adequate replacements.

Scanning a recent list of the leaders in the first-class averages, one columnist complained that almost without exception they have been playing first-class cricket for more than five years. A similar plight affects the Test side, which included only three players under 25 in this summer's five South African matches.

There was a time when England's great cricketers matured late. The renowned Dr. W. G. Grace was 32 when he made his Test debut and the deadly Arthur (Tich) Freeman bowled out his first Australian at 33. But present-day cricketers have little chance of playing for their country if they reach their late 20s, without getting the selectors' nod.

FEW PROSPECTS

The spearhead of today's England attack is the fast-bowling pair of Brian Statham, 30, and Freddie Trueman, 28, both of whom won their first England cap at 21. Peter May, the ailing England captain, made the team at the same age and his replacement, Colin Cowdrey, was just one year older.

Of this year's crop of youngsters, the only unqualified international success is the 25-year-old Sussex batsman, Ted Dexter, whose form in county and Test cricket has virtually wiped out the memory of his disastrous baptism of fire in Australia two winters ago.

Another 25-year-old, Lancashire's Geoff Pullar, has done reasonably well as an opening batsman and 24-year-old Tony Allen and Bob Barber have contributed some useful spin-bowling.

But the averages offer discouraging evidence as to possible replacements for the rest. Four of the top seven batsmen are already playing for England. Of the others, Hampshire's Henry Horton is 36, Somerset's Peter Wright is 34 and ineligible because of his Australian birth and only one, 25-year-old Jim Stewart of Warwickshire can rank as a Test prospect.

The three leading bowlers are Trueman, Statham and their No. 1 stand-in, Alan Moss of Middlesex, who is 29. Next in line is Les Jackson of Derbyshire, still a brilliant pace bowler at 38. The best of the spinners are Mickey Allen, 27, and Don Shepherd, 33.

A few under-25s appear lower down in the order. They are Tony Lewis of Glamorgan and Eric Russell of Middlesex among the batsmen and four young fast-bowlers—Derbyshire's Harold Rhodes, Hampshire's David White, Surrey's David Gibson and Lancashire's Ken Higgs.

The only man who qualifies for all-rounder status by appearing in the top 20 in both batting and bowling is Trevor Bailey of Essex. Still a holy terror to county sides, the 36-year-old England veteran now is considered too old for international competition.

Nanaimo Given Needed Push By Goalkeeper Les Norman

By BRUCE LEVETT
PORT CREDIT, Ont. (CP)—Nanaimo's leg-weary veterans from the west coast came up with a new goalie and an 11-5 victory over Port Credit Sailors Monday night to stay alive in the best-of-seven run for the Mann Cup.

Nanaimo went into the game down 3-0 and facing elimination at the hands of the younger, speedier Sailors for the Canadian senior lacrosse championship.

However, youthful Les Norman of New Westminster, brought out to replace an ailing Fred Fulla in the Nanaimo nets, turned in a sensational debut and held Port Credit to one goal in each of the first, second and fourth periods.

The 11-5 score was the smallest of the series so far—Port Credit won the first three 10-9, 12-11 and 17-13.

OUTDOORS

with Alec Merriman

Yesterday's rain was a welcome sight to weary deer hunters who experienced a poor opening of the deer season on the weekend, mainly because of the fact all permit gates in the Muir Creek, Duncan-Cowichan, Northwest Bay area, and Wolfe Lake were closed because of fire hazard.

Plenty of deer were seen by the hunters but they were hard to get because of the dry conditions under foot, making it difficult to stalk them.

Game officials at five major Island check points, checked 1,258 hunters who had bagged only 105 bucks.

The north end of the Island was most productive, with 540 hunters in the Campbell River area, including Sasward forest, shooting 67 bucks for a 12.4 per cent hunter success. Only 14 hunters at Courtenay walked in past the closed gates of the Wolfe-Lake area and they bagged two deer for a 14.3 per cent success.

A two-day Colwood-Sooke area check recorded 379 hunters with 23 bucks, a 6.7 per cent hunter success. In the Port Renfrew area 170 hunters bagged seven deer for a 4.1 per cent and in the Nanaimo area 155 hunters bagged six bucks for 3.8 per cent success.

Deer in the main were in good shape and heavier than usual. One hunter in the Bear Creek area bagged a 189-pounder.

After the opening day splurge, deer may be even harder to get than they were on Saturday, but hunters should have plenty of good hunting during the rutting season in late November and December.

If rain continues closed permit areas will be opened to hunters which should provide another big hunting opportunity. The Oct. 8-9 and 10 Thanksgiving Weekend will be the time for the next big onslaught, followed by Nov. 11 Remembrance Day weekend.

Game biologist John Bandy has appealed for all hunters in Courtenay (Wolfe Lake Gate), Northwest Bay, Deerholme and Copper Canyon and Victoria district gates in Sooke to turn over the jawbones from deer to the game department for study purposes.

Jaw and teeth wear is the way game officials are able to tell the age of deer. Hunters are asked to attach a tag to the jaw, showing the date, place and sex of the animal and the number of point on the antlers, and then to turn them in to game officials at company gates in permit areas.

Douglas Casey did it again over the weekend. Two years ago he won the junior derby of the Esquimalt Anglers' Association. This year he won the senior Labor Day coho derby of the Esquimalt Club. This weekend he took 12-year-old Jimmy Hay fishing in the Esquimalt club's junior derby and guided him to top prize with a 11.9 coho caught on a Mac's Squid plug.

Second prize went to David Patterson with a 10.3 coho, and Danny Carlos topped third prize with 5.15. Some 80 juniors fished in the event and many won prizes with dogfish.

Wings Square Final Series

TORONTO (CP)—Rochester Red Wings came from behind for a 5-2 victory Monday night and squared the best of seven International Baseball League final at 1-1 as the Toronto pitching, a mainstay for the pennant-winning Maple Leafs all season, fell apart.

A crowd of 2,791 chilly fans saw the Wings overcome a 2-0 deficit with a three-run sixth-inning, aided by three walks and a hit batter. The Wings added a clinching pair in the eighth, again with a walk figuring in the scoring.

$2,700,000 Spent Fighting Fires

Chemainus Blaze

Friends Helping Fire-Hit Family

CHEMAINUS — The T. E. laid more than 2,000 feet of hose. The Walters were all away from the house when smoke was reported "to be engulfing the house front" by a neighbor who turned in the alarm.

A Red Cross spokesman said the family of four is living with a relative and household goods are being donated by residents and friends.

The home and furniture were owned by D. T. Morgan of Whitehorse, Y.T. More than 15 members of the Chemainus fire department attended the blaze and

Criticism of Boards Unfair, Says Trustee

It's "grossly unfair" to criticize school boards for failing to make more jobs when they are not allowed to participate in the winter works program, trustee Richard Reeve said last night. He said as users of taxpayers' money the boards are entitled to share in federal grants. Participation in the winter work program would boost employment, he said, pointing out that only one per cent of 500 applicants got permanent jobs from the Greater Victoria board in the past year.

Two Mishaps

Injured Loggers Sped Here

Two loggers with injured legs were brought to Victoria hospitals yesterday. A Saturna Island logger, 56-year-old Derwint Taylor of Port Washington, whose foot was crushed by a rolling log, was delirious and suffering severe shock when he arrived at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

FAIR CONDITION

But he was listed in fair condition at midnight. The E. T. Conroy Logging Co. employee was flown to Victoria's Inner Harbor by Victoria Flying Services pilot Bill Cove. Taylor was assisting in the unloading of a logging truck when the accident happened.

Bill Pednault, about 18, of Sooke, with a broken leg, is in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

A witness said that a spruce tree broke and landed on a log near Pednault which flipped him "10 feet into the air."

He was brought to hospital by West Coast Ambulance from the logging operation near Muir Creek.

SAANICH COUNCIL ALSO

Referred a proposed sewerage project in the 113 home Melina Willow area to the local board of health with a recommendation that the plan be processed with.

Named Nov. 1 as the date for the municipality's annual court of revision on its voters list.

Recommended to next year's council that it give serious consideration to installation of sewers in the Glangford area.

Head from Reeve Chatterton that an estimated $20,000 to $25,000 had been cut from estimates for a new joint police-fire building as a result of plans for common use of some facilities by both services.

Learned that Saanich

BERLIN (UPI) — German Communists claimed again Monday the right to control all traffic into West Berlin and threatened to act against the isolated city to back up their position.

An official Communist news paper said an East German Soviet agreement of Sept. 20, 1955, gave East Germany "full sovereignty on land, water and in the air" and could be enforced, but did not specify how its threat to enforce this claim would be implemented.

The agreement gave East Germany control of East German traffic "to and from West

Lumumba Offered Cabinet Post

Congo Chiefs Patching Split

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters) — Signs of a compromise between Patrice Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu emerged Monday with a Kasavubu spokesman indicating the dismissed premier might be offered a cabinet post in a new government.

Meanwhile, there were reports of a second assassination attempt in as many days against Col. Joseph Mobutu, who seized the reins of power from the rival political factions last week.

TWO DENIALS
Indications of a compromise between Kasavubu and the premier he ordered arrested last week came after the president had twice denied Lumumba announcements of a reconciliation between them.

An authoritative source said compromise negotiations between the Congo's rival factions took place Monday, but that nothing has been signed.

POSTPONED
Jean Bolikango, information minister in the regime of Joseph Ileo who was appointed by Kasavubu to replace Lumumba, said the Ileo regime is considering a cabinet post for Lumumba.

It was reported that a gun-

No Congo Chaos In Free Nigeria

LONDON (CP)—Confidence in the future of Nigeria was expressed Monday by leaders of Africa's most populous territory.

"The chaos in the Congo has no chance of repeating itself in Nigeria," said Dr. Nnamdi Azikiwe, governor-general designate of the federation.

Nigeria is to become independent Oct. 1 and is looking forward to taking her place as a full and equal member of the Commonwealth.

Dr. Azikiwe's confidence was shared by Alhaji Abdulmalik, the federation's high commissioner in London, who said independence will mark a turning point in the political history of Africa.

"The disturbing events in Africa constitute a challenge not only to Africans but also to the entire civilized world. They are a challenge to Africa's claim to maturity to manage its own affairs."

Ross Releases Staff And Guessing Resumes

By TERRY HAMMOND

Months' old guessing game over B.C.'s next lieutenant-governor received fresh impetus yesterday with word that Hon. Frank M. Ross, due to step down Oct. 3, has given two weeks' notice to about a dozen members of his personal staff.

Cooks, maids, the vice-regal butler and a chauffeur were among those who received notice at Government House.

STAFF MEMBERS

They are staff members who are retained and paid by the lieutenant-governor himself. The Government House office staff, the housekeeper and gardeners are civil servants and their jobs continue.

Night Class Enrolment 1,450

Enrolment for night classes run by Greater Victoria school board has reached 1,450 and officials said yesterday it probably will exceed last year's record of 5,100 by the end of the month.

Interest in the classes, this year expanded to an even wider variety of subjects than 1959, has increased year by year. The current list includes:

High school courses, refresher courses in elementary school subjects, languages, including Chinese and Russian, vocational and shop courses, apprenticeship training and handicrafts.

Classes are scheduled to open Oct. 3 for general night school courses. Apprentice training begins this week. Classes in night school program will be held at five locations.

Newlywed Pilot Killed

A young RCAF pilot officer, who was married in Victoria just over two weeks ago, died last night when a T-33 jet training plane crashed in a field 126 miles southwest of Winnipeg.

PO Peter Robson, about 21, of Belleville, Ont., was married Sept. 3 in the First Baptist Church to the former Sue Anderson, 1754 Kings Road. He was based at RCAF station Portage La Prairie.

The Saanich resolution points out that senior governments have worked out pension plans for elected representatives but that no such plan exists for municipal councillors "who give long and faithful service to the public."

But the move nonetheless brought renewed speculation on who will be appointed to fill the post.

REMOTE POSSIBILITY

Defence Minister George Peckers, once considered a certain choice, is now considered an extremely remote possibility due to his embarrassment over Ottawa reports that Conservatives were raising a $200,000 fund so he could afford the appointment. Lieutenant-Governor Ross is said to have spent nearly $100,000 a year of his own money during his term.

THREE MEN

Yesterday speculators were playing with the names of three Vancouver men, one of them, Fred Hume, a former mayor of B.C.'s largest city.

Others were industrialist Harold Foley and Conservative lawyer Leon Ladner.

A Victoria cartage company has been retained to move Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross' personal effects to their Vancouver home.

Councillors' Pension Delegates' Target

Saanich delegates to the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention in New Westminster this week will be seeking a pension plan for councillors and a new deal on social welfare costs and government grants.

The municipality will put forward six resolutions in all when the convention starts tomorrow.

10-YEAR MINIMUM

Saanich suggests that municipal councillors with a minimum of 10 years' service should qualify for a superannuation allowance under the terms of the Municipal Superannuation Act.

Booming Ground Hearing Possible

A lands department official said yesterday that if enough valid objections to an Esquimalt Harbor booming grounds proposal are received by the government a public hearing may be held.

Lands superintendent Thomas Hyslop said yesterday that objections to the proposal are starting to come in from View Royal residents by mail, telephone and through personal calls.

He said all complaints about the plan would be considered and that if there are enough of them the department might order a public hearing before ruling on an application by Greater Victoria Mill Owners' Association.

Parking Restrictions Endorsed

Students Should Walk School Trustees Agree

Car a Nuisance Not a Necessity

Trustees last night endorsed parking restrictions imposed by order of Reeve George Murdoch in the vicinity of Oak Bay High School and agreed it would do most students good to walk to school.

The reeve said council had "reluctantly" prohibited parking on Armstrong Street, Christie Way and Cranmore Road, and added, "it now appears from further complaints coming in... that we will have to enlarge the area (of parking restriction)." In his letter to Greater

Three Blocks to Park

"It's getting to a point where youngsters are driving three blocks to park... then walking back past their house to get to school. A car... is not a necessity, it's a nuisance, in fact, and contributes to loss of good student time."

Eventually this fact may get through to parents," said David Logan said he agreed with a single exception: "There are some stu-

Trustees Take Issue

But several trustees took issue with Reeve Murdoch on what he termed in his letter the "absolutely a damn it" stand taken by the board in its refusal to provide student parking despite offers of assistance from the municipality and the student body.

Board chairman W. C. Gelling said it was not policy to provide student parking partly because the costs would not be shared by the department of education, and partly because all high schools would want it. He said, however, there appeared to be no reason why each situation could not be looked at separately on its merits.

Mr. Reeve said he was sure other trustees were as mystified as he was to hear about the offer from student body to pay for gravel for a student parking lot.

"We've had a verbal offer from the municipal clerk (of Oak Bay) to do the grading," said Mr. Reeve. "But that's relatively inexpensive. We'd be happy to do that ourselves. It's providing the gravel that could run very quickly into a couple of thousand dollars."

Several trustees said they didn't favor providing student parking at a school under any circumstances because it would mean giving it to all secondary schools.

Ross Unveils Plaque Marking Historic Church

Making one of his final public appearances before retiring at the end of the month, Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross yesterday, in effect, repeated history 100 years old.

Standing on almost the same spot where, a century ago, James Douglas, then governor of the Hudson's Bay Company and this new colony, laid the cornerstone of the Church of St. John the Divine, Mr. Ross unveiled a plaque marking the site of the church—long famous as The Old Iron Church.

Something of the church's history was given by Archbishop Harold Sexton, who noted that the Hudson's Bay Company had been original owners of the property, at Douglas and Fisgard; had sold it; that it had then been purchased by Rt. Rev. George Hills, Anglican bishop of the colony, for the new church.

Construction of the church, from materials donated by the Baroness Burdett-Coutts and consisting largely of galvanized iron, gave the church its popular name.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: It's too late to do anything about our summer vacation now, but I need something in black and white for next year.

My husband gets a 10-day summer vacation. We like to go to a fishing resort. My husband was very disappointed this year because two couples he invited couldn't join us.

My beef is this: I like people, but when I go on a vacation I want to be by myself. The thought of entertaining city guests in a small cabin, hauling water from the river, cooking on a wood stove and supplying food and beer for people who don't know us in the city, makes me fume.

My husband says he can't enjoy a vacation without people and that I should put up with it. Should I?—TIERED

Dear Tired: Women need a vacation from housework as much as men need to get away from the asphalt jungle.

Select a different spot next year—a place with modern facilities, plus a central lodge where your husband can find people if he can't get along without them. He should not have to import his city friends.

Dear Ann Landers: I gave a small dinner party for our son's eighth birthday. I invited seven little friends. An hour before the party a 5-year-old neighbor girl ap-

Women Seek Law to Choose Husband

CAIRO (AP)—The forthcoming Asian-African women's conference here will consider a resolution for a Moslem law to permit a woman to seek a husband by herself if her family can't find a mate by the time she's 30 years old.

St. Joseph's Bridge, Tea Set Oct. 19

At a meeting of the Alumnae to St. Joseph's School of Nursing it was decided to hold the annual Fall Bridge and Tea on Oct. 19. Due to the popularity last year of the evening bridge, it was decided to again hold an afternoon and evening session with refreshments served at both occasions.

Out-of-Town Guests

Out-of-town guests, from Nanaimo who attended the wedding of Mr. Kenneth Stalz and Miss Sandra Ella Atchison were Mr. and Mrs. A. Holitsky, Mr. and Mrs. G. Benning came from White Rock and guests from North Surrey were Mr. and Mrs. F. Salmons, Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Atchison and Mr. and Mrs. F. McVety.

peared at the door and asked if she could come to the party. I told her I was sorry but the party was all planned.

Fifteen minutes later another child came to the door and said he had some new games, and wanted to join the party. I told him no, also. I hated to turn these children away but eight was all I could handle.

The morning after the party I had two phone calls. The mothers of the rejected children claimed I was heartless and that I had been cruel to their children. What's your opinion?—M. M.

Dear M.M.: I don't agree with your critics. Children's parties can get out of hand easily and when they do it's bedlam. The only way to keep control is to limit the number of guests.

Youngsters should learn, too, not to go where they are not invited. It's unbecoming. Dear Ann Landers: You always stick up for the mother-in-law. Why don't you say something in defense of the daughter-in-law for a change?

We've been married 10 years (no children) and my husband is still such a mama's boy that he has to stop off at Mama's house every night before coming home. She always has something he likes to eat, so he has dinner over there and doesn't eat the dinner I've prepared.

His mother is a much better cook than I am, but I don't think he's being fair to me. I think he should be man enough to eat at home. How do I cope with this?—CAMELLE.

Dear Camille: If you can't beat her—join him. Since this has been going on for 10 years accept the fact that you aren't going to change it. Sweeten your attitude and meet him at Mama's. Most women would be delighted to have someone cook dinner for them every night! It could be, too, that after a few weeks of this routine your mother-in-law may suggest that you both eat at home.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Needing and Getting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed, envelope.

Life in Harem Offers Little to Western Girl

LONDON (UPI)—Those not fare too well in a harem. In fact, she'd probably wish she was back home doing the "sheik" may seem exotic and dishes or taking care of the romantic, but life in a harem kids.

—Sultan Bin Ahmed Al Muea Rashad Al-Naimi, 33, who each have only one wife—although they are allowed four by their harem-dwellers, the following religion—offered prospective hints for hooking a sheik.

Two handsome sheiks who arrived here from the Persian Gulf said that the average North American female would

Beer Parlor Doubles As Health Clinic

DAWSON CITY, Yukon (CP)—The last special campaign for adult polio inoculation brought out 136 Dawson residents and just about completed the program here.

Kathleen Duffon, a native of Radville, Sask., who recently completed a tour of duty in this area, had to travel as much as 600 miles to care for some 3,000 people in her charge.

When she visited Pelly River, the only town in the district without a doctor, the hotel owner cleared out the beer parlor and turned it over to her for a clinic.

During the spring break-up, when roads were impassable, she had to travel by helicopter to Klondike City to visit native families stricken with influenza.

Most of the time Miss Duffon travelled alone, advising the RCMP when she expected to arrive at her destination. If she was late, someone was ready to set out to meet her.

Northern Health Services supplied her with a car equipped with a sleeping bag, axe, tow chains, matches and emergency rations.

"The coldest I have ever driven in was 52 below," she said. "I wouldn't start out in such a temperature. It so happens the cold spell set in while I was out so I kept moving."

Communities she covered included the mining towns and camps at Elsa Keno, Mayo, Granville and Riverside settlements such as Stewart Crossing and Pelly River.

Twice a month she held a well-baby clinic in Dawson City, attending as many as 70

In the Persian Gulf, said the Sultan, "Long hair is a sign of beauty and class. No woman with short hair is beautiful."

Smoking is out, too. "It's a disgusting habit to an Arab," said Humaid.

Educated women are not likely prospects. "They get too many ideas," said the Sultan.

You can't be a working wife. "It takes a wife away from her master's control," said Humaid.

Keep your mouth shut when it comes to politics. "Your husband determines how the household votes," explained the Sultan.

Don't get any silly ideas about discussing things on an equal level. "That just makes for arguments," observed Humaid.

Expect a beating if you get out of line. You may even get tossed out of the house.

In case any females are still interested, the way to become the No. 1 wife in a harem is not by using your feminine charms—because you can't see your sheik before the marriage ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynol Mack Married at St. Aidan's

A honeymoon to the mainland and the United States followed the marriage last Friday evening of Shirley Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Ridout of Victoria, and Lynol Calvin Mack, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mack of Kelowna, B.C. Rev. T. G. Griffiths conducted the double-ring ceremony in St. Aidan's United Church. Golden rods and chrysanthemums decorated the church, and guest pews were marked with yellow baby chrysanthemums and bows. Mrs. B. Brown, organist, played traditional music.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She wore a gown of helix lace and nylon net. Basque bodice was enhanced by a scalloped sabina neckline extending to the back with streamers floating to the hemline. Dress had lily-point sleeves into a full-length skirt, which was applied with lace and iridescent sequins repeated on the streamers. A seed pearl and lace coronet held the bride's hand-rolled, scalloped-edged, fingertip-length veil. Her jewelry was pearl earrings, gift of the groom. Briercliffe roses and stephanotis were in the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Ray McCorkill, bride's sister, was matron of honor. She wore a yellow silk organza gown. Her headband was of white flowers and she carried a bouquet of Wendy bronze chrysanthemums. Junior bridesmaid, Miss Beverly McCorkill, and flower girl Pamela McCorkill, nieces of the bride, wore identical dresses of aqua nylon over taffeta. They had floral bandeaus and carried bouquets of gold chrysanthemums.

LONDON (CP) — Housewives in Britain spend more than 16 hours a week watching television programs, according to a recent survey by a commercial television company.

Guild Plans Supper Oct. 4

St. Matthias Ladies' Evening Guild met recently in the Fireside Room of the Parish Hall, with Mrs. C. G. Heisterman in the chair.

Rev. Angus Cameron of Lundavra, rector of St. Matthias, thanked the Guild for the donation of curtains for the main auditorium.

Plans were announced for a Harvest Supper to be held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday, Oct. 4 at 6 p.m., convened by Mrs. G. L. Levy.

Mrs. R. McCrimmon, Mrs. K. Hvid, and Mrs. J. Houston were appointed as a collection committee for a rummage sale to be held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday, Oct. 18, at 7 p.m. Next business meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 8 p.m. in the Fireside Room.

Miss Slater Wins Contest

Miss Carol Slater, local winner in Victoria division of the Young Stylemakers' Contest, has now been informed that she has won the western Canada contest and will compete in the national contest in New York.

RADIATORS

Now that the heat's off it's a good time to paint your radiators. A bottle-cleaning brush is handy for hard-to-get-at places. Incidentally, the same color of paint as you use for your walls will make the unsightly pipes less noticeable.

Garden Notes

Dutch Began in Spain

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The Dutch iris is about the last of the bulbs to be planted — around the end of October is best, but it isn't too early to get cracking on your bulb order. The flowers are easy to grow, completely hardy, providing you don't plant them too early in the fall, and unsurpassed as a cut flower.

These bulbs have a most interesting history. It begins in 1564 when the Belgian horticulturist Clusius made a journey through Spain and became acquainted with two varieties of bulbous iris which grow wild in that country. In his writings he called them Iris Xiphium, blue, and Iris lusitanica, yellow. He collected specimens of these bulbs and took them back to Flanders where they took to the Low Countries climate like a duck takes to water.

parents and blooming quite a bit earlier in the season. It is this race which is now known as the Dutch iris.

One of the first of these early hybrids is the old Maritima Wedgwood, a grand-cut flower and one of the best for forcing. It makes large flowers, on strong, straight stems with Wedgwood blue standards and falls of a slightly paler shade with a pale yellow blotch.

Imperator, another of the early developments in the Dutch hybridizing program, blooms a little later than Wedgwood in a most beautiful deep blue shade. Both Imperator and Wedgwood are inexpensive bulbs, running around 75 cents a dozen.

Orange King is a grand iris, growing a bit taller than most of its fellows and somewhat later than Wedgwood and Imperator, thereby keeping the show going after the early birds have packed up. The color is a deep orange yellow without blotches and the bulbs run about $1 a dozen.

My wife's favorite in our iris collection is Gold and Silver, a most graceful flower with pure silvery white standards and deep orange falls. The standards are the petals which stand upright, the falls those which droop downward.

I believe her fondness for Gold and Silver is due in part to the fact that this variety lasts longer in water and doesn't shed its petals and pollen all over the furniture. It is a rather high priced bulb, costing $4.75 a dozen.

My own choice of a favorite Dutch iris would lie between Blue Giant and Bronze Queen. I like the color combination on Blue Giant, with standards of deep indigo blue and the falls marked with a conspicuous deep orange blotch. Bronze Queen is a two-tone iris also, with bronze blue standards and falls of a deep bronze shade with a butterfly yellow blotch. Blue Giant is a new hybrid which made its debut only last year, and like all new introductions, the bulbs cost the earth — my four bulbs cost me $3 each last year, although this fall they are down to $1.50 apiece. Bronze Beauty is much more reasonable; bulbs can be purchased for $1 a dozen.

The Viewing World

Of John Crosby

Stone-Age Acting in the Wet

My son pulled a sea robin out of the ocean the other day, an unnerving experience. It is a hideous creature with both wings and feet. Nevertheless, it is a fish. Can't make up its mind, I guess, what it wants to be. Also, it's a reminder that all life evolved out of the sea some years back and may revert back there if we insist on poisoning the atmosphere.

Television is having its own reversion to the sea. If disaster strikes, the writers are ready. For a couple of years now we've had Sea Hunt, which has had Lloyd Bridges and a lot of other wet actors, prowling around the deep. This has done so well it has provoked an imitator. The Aquanauts — now, I wonder where they got that word — which opened the other day on CBS.

The Aquanauts differs from Sea Hunt in several important respects. First, it isn't as good. Second, it's longer — a full hour as opposed to a half hour. All those helmets and goggles and bubbles take self-ex-sion back approximately to where it was in the stone age.

If you expect "to-be-or-not-to-be" or any other form of introspection down on the ocean floor, forget it, bub. You're on the wrong floor for motivation or characterization or like that there. That's up to the dry actors. Down in the deep, the communication "runs" like this: "I signalled her with my flare. She signalled back she was okay." That's a good trick if you can do it. How do you suppose they say okay in flare language?

Muscular, I guess, is the word to use to describe this kind of acting. The two heroes of Aquanauts are Keith Larsen and Jeremy Slate and they are finely muscled specimens, whom the teenage set of both sexes will probably find irresistible. The acting, as I say, is rudimentary, consisting largely of staring off camera at mythical sharks and other deep sea villains, finger-poking, shrugs and grimacing through face pieces.

Just the same, this sort of thing has had a great attraction for the young teen-age mob in Sea Hunt, and this one may very well attract them too. (It sure isn't aimed at me.) The plot on the first episode I found very interesting in a sociological way. Having a full hour to fill, the story revolved around not just one episode but half a dozen. The webheads (that's Aquanauts in Siamese) got involved in rescuing a damsel in distress, underwater mining and fighting off sharks.

Through all this there runs a real old-fashioned showoff type of minor villain. Or perhaps villain is too strong a word. The fellow constantly calls it all a plot, by trying to attract attention to himself. Man, I haven't seen that kind of mock villain since "Tom Swift and His Magic Air Rifle." In the end he learned his lesson and turned decent. It's a healthy development away from the psychotic killers who are the normal villains of television. But I don't know whether the younger set is going to go for it. They're used to stronger stuff.

Princess May Say Yes

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Princess Grace Kelly has not said no, and has indicated she might say yes, to the invitation of Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin to come to Hollywood in January to appear on the dais at the Friars' big wedding in honor of Gary Cooper. It is expected 14,000 guests will attend the affair.

Jackie Gleason's October spectacular will open with the plump one bouncing on a trampoline! Not as dangerous as it reads, Jackie, in his younger, slimmer days, was a high-diving champion.

Diana Dors, with her $200,000 settlement from RKO to spend, is spending some of it leasing Greta Garbo's former house in Beverly Hills, D.D. has some interesting neighbors — the Jimmy Stewarts, the James Masons, the Jack Bennys.

Height of optimism: Producer Al Ziegfeld sent the script of "Confessions of an Opium Eater" to Cary Grant and Tony Curtis. The De Quincey classic has been changed from Limehouse, London 1880, to San Francisco 1920.

Charles Brackett wanted Laurence Harvey to play Mike Romanoff on the screen, but Larry has commitments that take him through 1961. Dirk Bogarde is just as busy, and Brackett's other choice, Kenneth More, is not keen on coming to Hollywood. Mike speaks with a British accent, you know.

Van Johnson, toiling at Four Star for TV, said: "It's good to be home. I got so tired of rain and more rain in Europe." I doubt that he and Evie will split up again, now that he has forsaken Switzerland as a tax-free home.

There will be another girl with Bing Crosby and Bob Hope in their "Road to Hong Kong," in addition to Dorothy Lamour. Bing and Bob are aiming for Brigitte Bardot or Gina Lollobrigida. If the former, they will have to make the picture in Paris, or even Hong Kong. La Bardot will not come to Hollywood.

The ex-Mrs. Marlon Brando, anxious to forget all the strife by working, has been making tests with David Janssen for his new TV series, Macao. I was surprised when David's Richard Diamond show was not renewed.

Russians Steal Giant March

Learn-and-Earn Pays Off

By JACK HUTTON
Fifth of a Series
MOSCOW (TNS) — Igor is a tall, fair-haired Russian boy who smiles a great deal when he talks. He is in his fifth and final year of physics at Moscow University.

And he is earning more money than a working brother the same age.

The Russians, if they are ahead of Western education in any way, have stolen a giant march with their "earn-while-you-learn" philosophy of university education.

Fourteen thousand students at Moscow University, for example, received between 300 and 600 rubles a month during the last school year with deductions for bad marks or bonuses for top grades.

Those whose families were making over a certain amount did not receive assistance; the amount of support, based on years before entering university.

Since the government ensures each university graduate a job, enrollment in each course is necessarily limited. I heard that between five and 50 applications came for each vacancy.

need, is determined by a mixed group of students and teachers.

I visited the skyscraper-like Moscow University with my interpreter to find how students found their monthly budgets.

Sample comments about their monthly income:

A third-year geology student: "A girl can live on 300 rubles quite easily. But it's hard for the boys. It costs money to take out the girls, you know."

An Estonian physics student: "Moscow students get along much better than we do. They are able to live at home and that cuts down their living expenses a great deal."

Accommodation is supplied for 6,000 students in the university at a cost of 15 rubles per month. (Each room is about 15 feet by 10 feet and contains a bed, table, chair and radio.)

Food costs can, of course, vary widely. But friends and I sampled the university cafeteria and found that two rubles bought an enjoyable lunch.

There is, of course, constant incentive to study for better marks. But the student, when he wishes to relax, has the choice of good music, drama or lecture series on his campus.

How many students go on to university? The figure I was given for Russia alone was 20 percent.

University education, however, is not primarily for the young Russian man. Girls outnumber boys in universities and teacher-training schools by more than six to four.

Just making good marks at the end of secondary education (Grade 11) does not mean an automatic entry into university.

A substantial number of students must work for two

Power Project Greatest Ever

KARACHI, Pakistan (Reuters) — India, Pakistan, six Western nations and the World Bank Monday night signed agreements launching the greatest irrigation and water-power project ever undertaken anywhere in the world.

The agreements settle a bitter 12-year political dispute between the two neighboring Commonwealth countries and underwrite a $1,000,000,000 project to use the waters of six rivers flowing from the Himalayas into the Indian Ocean for power and irrigation.

Prime Minister Nehru, Pakistan's President Mohammed

Yusuf Khan and the World Bank vice-president, W. A. B. Illiff, signed the treaty. It divides irrigation rights in the six rivers between India and Pakistan.

Representatives of six Western nations—Canada, the U.S., Britain, West Germany, Australia and New Zealand—then signed an agreement setting up an Indus basin development fund to finance the engineering project under World Bank auspices.

Nehru and Ayub fly north today for talks at Ayub's hill-top house at a Himalayan resort.

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will contribute $22,100,000 over a 10-year period to an international fund for the development of the Indus River basin, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Monday.

A $900,000,000 fund to finance construction of irrigation and other works in Pakistan is being financed by Australia, West Germany, New Zealand, Pakistan, Britain and the U.S.

WORLD BANK
The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development also is involved.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that, subject to approval of Parliament, Canada's contribution "will aid in the construction of a system of canals, storage dams, power stations and many other developments to harness and control the Indus River system."

Battle Begins for 'Love' of African Hordes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United States and Russia squared off yesterday for a historic contest for the affections of 64,000,000 newly freed Africans which may determine eventual control of the United Nations.

High American officials said this grim contest for prestige in restless Africa, although not as spectacular as expected fireworks over the disarmament issue, marks a crossroads for the world organization.

The communist bloc for the moment had the heavier propaganda guns on the firing line, headed by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. He was reported by aides to be planning a strong pitch to woo the Africans into neutralism or alignment with the communist bloc.

But U.S. officials were cheered by tactical victories on the African front which they said had badly damaged Russian prestige in that turbulent area. The American officials were placing high hopes on President Eisenhower's speech next Thursday to the general assembly. He is expected to urge the new nations to think and act for themselves and avoid entrapment in any bloc.

At least 14 new African nations will be admitted to the UN at the session beginning today. This will bring total membership to 97, almost double the 50 which signed the charter 15 years ago.

But even more important, it will raise to 42 the number of Asian-African nations in the UN and give that bloc controlling voice on any issues on which it takes a solid stand.

Khrushchev, who was the monolithic bloc of nine communist states in his pocket and can count on occasional "defections" from other groups, hungrily eyes the newly expanded Asian-African line-up. It could give him a solid majority on any issue on which he could pull it in. The wooing of the Africans by both sides is expected to be intense.

American officials acknowledge that their "built-in" majority of the past—23 western bloc votes and 20 Latin American ballots—is not enough now. And even the Latin Americans—as witness Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro—cannot be counted on as a solid phalanx.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter believes that events of the past week in Africa and at the UN have considerably weakened Russia's position and hopes that the president can add to the erosion.

South Africa Welcome as Republic

John D. Drops Hint

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker last night said it was "more crucial than ever before" that the British Commonwealth continue as a bridge between the nations of the West and the emerging underdeveloped nations.

Diefenbaker told the second Commonwealth and Empire Law Conference that civilization would suffer if the roots of commonwealth unity were "to wither and die."

REFERENDUM

In a reference to the forthcoming South African referendum to decide whether that nation would become a republic, Diefenbaker gave strong indications that approval would be given by other Commonwealth members for South Africa to stay in the Commonwealth as a republic.

The fact "should be emphasized," Diefenbaker said, that all member states agreed to allow South Africa to apply for Commonwealth membership if it attained republican status. "As consent to membership requires unanimity, these words become significant and important," he added.

EXPRESS VIEWS

It was essential, the prime minister warned, "that Commonwealth countries should not interfere in the internal affairs of any other Commonwealth country." Canadians, however, "may still express our view of what is right and just."

"We will all have to be tolerant of differences," he said. "We will have to face the fact that the varied individual circumstances of the member nations of the Commonwealth may well mean that they will be compelled to adopt a variety of policies to deal with those circumstances."

RAPID INCREASE

The rapidly increasing number of Commonwealth members, Diefenbaker said, posed great problems of organization which could limit the informality of prime ministers' conferences. "Will it be possible," he asked, "to conduct the deliberations as frankly and profitably as hitherto?"

"We will all have to be tolerant of differences," he said.

Surprises Likely In Nikita's Speech

By HENRY SHAPIRO

NEW YORK (UPI) — Immediately after his arrival in New York, Premier Nikita Khrushchev locked himself up in conference with his staff and advisers to put the final touches on his major disarmament speech to be delivered to the United Nations Assembly on Friday.

Informed sources expect the Soviet premier to introduce some new, if not spectacular, proposals to make his plan for total disarmament more acceptable to the West.

He is likely to make a special appeal for the support of the newly-admitted Afro-Asian nations who will be attracted by his offer to use the economies resulting from disarmament to aid underdeveloped areas.

There is no evidence to believe that the Kremlin plans any basic alterations of Khrushchev's grandiose four-year disarmament proposal submitted to the United Nations Sept. 18, 1959 and somewhat modified on June 3, 1960.

In its latest form the Soviet plan calls for a three-stage disarmament program with top priority given to the banning and destruction of the means of delivery of nuclear weapons.

Another Summit In '61?

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Earl of Home, Britain's new foreign secretary, Monday raised the possibility that a new summit conference may take place in 1961 providing Soviet Premier Khrushchev shows "proof" of his intention to negotiate in good faith.

After conferring with President Eisenhower, Lord Home indicated the president may call on Khrushchev to get back to "hard-rock negotiations on disarmament and other issues."

Surprise Vote Beats Reds

UN Supports Dag On Congo Issue

Afro-Asian Motion Demands Only Assistance by UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)

The General Assembly's emergency session, in a surprise vote, early today approved an Afro-Asian resolution backing Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's Congo policy and calling for an end to military aid to the country except through the United Nations.

The vote was 70 to 0 with 11 abstentions. South Africa and France joined the nine-nation Soviet bloc in abstaining.

Passage of the resolution wound up the emergency session of the world parliament summoned into session Saturday night by the United States after the Soviet Union had vetoed a similar resolution in the Security Council.

The emergency session concluded only hours before the Assembly was to start—at 3 p.m. EDT—its brass-studded regular 15th session with a parade of diplomatic stars of the Communist and neutralist countries headed by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin backtracked in the face of the massive Afro-Asian support thrown behind Hammarskjöld.

The surprise end to the showdown between Russia and the United States was interpreted by most diplomats as a victory for both Hammarskjöld and the United States, helped along by the Kremlin's reluctance to offend the uncommitted countries either of Africa or Asia.

Zorin, at the last moment, withdrew his own resolution which was sharply critical of Hammarskjöld. Then, after offering a series of amendments beefing up the Afro-Asian resolution in Russia's behalf, he withdrew them at the request of Ghana.

Castro Stalks Out

NEW YORK (AP)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro stalked angrily out of a New York hotel Monday night, complaining of the prices and his tight security guard.

After a conference with United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, Castro announced that his party was moving to a hotel in the heart of Harlem, New York's Negro district.

PREARRANGED

Edward Spatz, owner of the Hotel Shelburne, where Castro had stayed for 24 hours, charged at a press conference that the departure was "a prearranged propaganda move" designed to embarrass the United States on the eve of the 15th UN General Assembly meeting starting today.

As Castro left, he threatened to import tents from Cuba and live in Central Park or on the UN grounds.

DISCOURTESY

Cuba's Foreign Minister, Raul Roa, charged that the Castro party had been treated with discourtesy and inhospitality.

Spatz was not available for some time after Castro left the hotel. A spokesman explained that he was at his doctor's office, being treated for an ulcer. Spatz said Sunday he had agreed reluctantly to have Castro and his party as guests at the request of Hammarskjöld and U.S. State Secretary Christian Herter.

The Castro party had taken 20 rooms in the hotel, each at $20 a day.

Laundryman Envoy

Even Congo Delegate Kinda Confused

PARIS (Reuters) — A disgruntled member of one of the two rival Congolese delegations to the United Nations returned here by air from New York Sunday and confessed he found Congolese politics "much too complex."

"I run a laundry," said Robert Kinda, a member of the delegation supporting Patrice

Lumumba and led by Thomas Kanza.

"Fifteen days ago, Kanza—a client of mine for whom I'd done some private work—came and asked if I'd like to serve on the Congolese delegation going to New York," Kinda explained. "I'd never seen the United States and so I accepted."

"Kanza said 'You will be my boy and my secretary and so you will never leave me and you will be able to take part in all of the meetings.' So I closed my shop and I left."

"Then, one day in the corridors of the UN I met some other Congolese. They told me they were the only representatives of the Congo government, presided over by Joseph Ileo and named by President Joseph Kasavubu.

"That's all very well. But I am a friend of Kasavubu and I was under the impression that Kanza was obeying his orders."

"Then I learned several days ago that Kasavubu and Lumumba were no longer in power and that a colonel whom I don't know had taken over."

I got confused and decided to return home.

"So I told Kanza who ordered me—in a threatening tone—to stay and continue to obey him. Then I went and placed myself under the protection of the American police."

"The American police hid me until I could make here. 'All I want now is to return to Leopoldville and my laundry.'"

Ross Releases Staff And Guessing Resumes

By TERRY HAMMOND

Months' old guessing game over B.C.'s next lieutenant-governor received fresh impetus yesterday with word that Hon. Frank M. Ross, due to step down Oct. 3, has given two weeks' notice to about a dozen members of his personal staff.

Cooks, maids, the vice-regal butler and a chauffeur were among those who received notice at Government House.

STAFF MEMBERS

They are staff members who are retained and paid by the lieutenant-governor himself. The Government House office staff, the housekeeper and gardeners are civil servants and their jobs continue.

Release of personal staff members at the end of a lieutenant-governor's term of office is regular procedure so that a successor can choose his own.

But the move nonetheless brought renewed speculation on who will be appointed to fill the post.

REMOTE POSSIBILITY

Defence Minister George Pearkes, once considered a certain choice, is now considered an extremely remote possibility due to his embarrassment over Ottawa reports that Conservatives were raising a $200,000 fund so he could afford the appointment. Lieutenant-Governor Ross is said to have spent nearly $100,000 a year of his own money during his term.

THREE MEN

Yesterday speculators were playing with the names of three Vancouver men, one of them, Fred Hume, a former mayor of B.C.'s largest city.

Others were industrialist Harold Foley and Conservative lawyer Leon Ladner.

NEW APPOINTEE

But if B.C.'s Government House becomes vacant before a new appointee is named, the business of the province will not be much affected.

Chief Justice A. C. Des

Brisey has been regularly appointed to fulfill the vice-regal functions during absence of the lieutenant-governor and his current appointment remains in effect until April, 1961.

Booming Ground Hearing Possible

A lands department official said yesterday that if enough valid objections to an Esquimalt Harbor booming grounds proposal are received by the government a public hearing may be held.

Lands Superintendent

Thomas Hyslop said yesterday that objections to the proposal are starting to come in from View Royal residents by mail, telephone and through personal calls.

He said all complaints about the plan would be considered and that if there are enough of them the department might order a public hearing before ruling on an application by Greater Victoria Mill Owners' Association.

$550 Stolen

Thieves early yesterday stole about $550 in a break-in at Vancouver Island Coach Lines, 816 Wharf.

Cash boxes were taken from the vault, and broken open.

A number of small drawers had been forced open in the drivers' room and contents of a number of metal coin-changers were taken.

Lost, Hurt Indian Boy Hunted on Kuper Island

Strayed from Party When Out for Walk

CHEMAINUS — An intensified hunt is being organized for this morning to search for a 13-year-old Indian boy lost and believed injured on Kuper Island's rough south-eastern side.

Last seen Sunday was Arnold Wilson, of Duncan, who was out walking with a group of 20 boys his own age when last seen about 4 p.m.

Father Herbert Dunlop, principal of Kuper Island School, said last night that he is sure the youth must be injured somewhere in the thick underbrush and cannot summon help.

The priest said Arnold was walking on a road when it was decided to take a shortcut through rougher country back to the school for supper. It was the last time he was seen.

The area was thoroughly searched "time and again" yesterday but no trace of the youth was found.

Lot of Undergrowth

"He got behind the rest. There is a lot of undergrowth on that part of the island and he wasn't the walking type," said Father Dunlop.

The island is just off Chemainus and is a mile and a half wide by three and a half miles long. The school has 116 boarders and 30 day pupils.

Father Dunlop said that search parties went through the area with torches until midnight Sunday. Eight parties scoured the southern island yesterday under the direction of RCMP Const. William N. Bloxham, of Chemainus detachment.

An RCMP tracking dog was brought in but had little success. It was to be used again this morning.

For Short Periods

Hikers have been lost for short periods of time before but never this long, said Father Dunlop last night. He felt that Arnold is not the type of boy who would stay out in the woods unless he was hurt.

"We've ruled out the possibility that he would go home. He's not the type who would go off without permission," said Father Dunlop.

Several years ago two Indian girls attending the school tried to cross the four-mile-wide Stuart Channel to Vancouver Island to go home but never reached it in the small row-boat they took. One body was washed up on the beach at Yellow Point.

Father Dunlop said Arnold's parents live at Koksilah, on the Cowichan reserve just south of Duncan. They could not be reached last night.

Today most of the senior school students at the school will aid police in the search, said Father Dunlop.

Ross Unveils Plaque Marking Historic Church

Making one of his final public appearances before retiring at the end of the month, Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross yesterday, in effect, repeated history 100 years old.

Standing on almost the same spot where, a century ago, James Douglas, then governor of the Hudson's Bay Company and this new colony, laid the cornerstone of the Church of St. John the Divine, Mr. Ross unveiled a plaque marking the site of the church — long famous as The Old Iron Church.

HUDSON'S BAY

Something of the church's history was given by Archbishop Harold Sexton, who noted that the Hudson's Bay Company had been original owners of the property, at Douglas and Fisgard; had sold it; that it had then been purchased by Rt. Rev. George Hills, Anglican bishop of the colony, for the new church.

Construction of the church, from materials donated by the Baroness Burdett-Coutts and consisting largely of galvanized iron, gave the church its popular name.

SOLD BACK

In 1912 the present church was constructed and the original property sold back to the company for erection of the present store.

J. Howard McKay, store manager, introducing the lieutenant-governor, mentioned the parallel between church and company in Victoria's history.

Mr. Ross, who heard with the rest Archbishop Sexton's high praise for himself and Mrs. Ross during their tenure in office, said they had both worked hard at the job.

"We feel we have accomplished something," he said. "We have felt a deep gratitude for the treatment we have received from people from the Alaska to the southern border of this province."

Canon George Biddle of St. John's led in prayer. The band of HMCS Naden played prior to the service, and for the hymn which concluded it.

A corage was presented to Mrs. Ross by little Eileen Holman, 6½, of 702 Lamson, then parishioners and guests had tea in the store.

Water Rate Dicker To Resume

Negotiations probably will resume next week, a city official said yesterday, on a proposed water-rate increase for Esquimalt residents.

The increase, about 40 per cent for most consumers, has already gone into effect in Victoria city, but Public Utilities Commission approval must be given before the city can charge the higher rates to Esquimalt users.

The PUC has asked the city and Esquimalt to try to reach agreement. If they fail to do so in the resumed negotiations, the commission will hear arguments and make a ruling.

Accident Hunter Shoots Relative

CAMPBELL RIVER — An injured 16-year-old hunter stumbled through thick brush and a mile along a road near here Sunday before getting help for his brother-in-law whom he had accidentally shot.

Ivan Knowles, 16, suffered cuts, bruises and a sprained ankle when his pickup truck skidded down a 20-foot embankment while he was racing for help for companion Gary Heslop, 25.

Mr. Heslop lay in the bush for six hours before help finally arrived after suffering a 35-calibre bullet wound in his thigh.

Both men were admitted to Campbell River General Hospital.

After the shooting at 11:30 a.m. about eight miles west of here, young Knowles immediately applied a tourniquet and ran to a parked panel truck.

Finding the truck bogged down in mud, he feverishly tried to dig it free and finally tore off his shoes and trousers and jammed them under the wheels for traction.

Speeding along the Elk River, Logging Co. road the truck skidded out of control and plunged down a 20-foot embankment.

After being thrown from the truck he clawed his way back to the road and shoeless and clad in only underwear, he hobbled bloodsoaked along the road before being picked up by a group of Courtenay hunters who drove him to Campbell River.

Convention This Week

Councillors' Pension Delegates' Target

Saanich delegates to the Union of B.C. Municipalities' convention in New Westminster this week will be seeking a pension plan for councillors and a new deal on social welfare costs, and government grants.

The municipality will put forward six resolutions in all when the convention starts tomorrow.

10-YEAR MINIMUM

Saanich suggests that municipal councillors with a minimum of 10 years' service should qualify for a superannuation allowance under the terms of the Municipal Superannuation Act.

The Saanich resolution points out that senior governments have worked out pension plans for elected representatives but that no such plan exists for municipal councillors "who give long and faithful service to the public."

The Saanich resolution on welfare costs points out that while the per capita cost-sharing basis was supposed to reduce the municipal contribution in many areas when the provincial government introduced it, Saanich's share had trebled.

REVIEW ASKED

The resolution asks for a review of the present system and the release of all relevant information to municipalities.

Saanich also proposes an end to the sliding scale for per capita provincial grants whereby the annual grant diminishes as the population increases.

Hunter Hunting Season Open in Alberni Area

ALBERNI — The hunting for hunters season opened here at the weekend when RCMP and members of Alberni Valley Search and Rescue Squad turned out to look for Lloyd Kolstad, 33, 536 Margaret Street, and Eugene Larose, 52, 520 Margaret Street.

As the search proceeded Sunday in the Ash River area where the two hunters had entered the woods the previous morning, Kolstad and Larose emerged near Cumberland on the other side of the Beaufort Range.

The men had become lost in a fog as they hunted Saturday and, descending the wrong side of the mountain, had spent the night in the woods.

LAKE COWICHAN — Robert

Barkley of Cowichan Station was fined $25 in court here after pleading not guilty to a charge of operating a truck without proper signal lights.

PARKSVILLE — Making

the public and businesses more cognizant of unionism is going to be the major aim of the Nanaimo-Alberni and District Labor Council. Strong committee in each community in the area will be formed to publicize the union label and union businesses.

Port Alberni delegate Gil Ingram said that it was time the council started to educate members into patronizing only union stores, garages and other businesses.

PORT ALBERNI — Charles

Alfred Butler, a retired tow boat captain, died in West Coast General Hospital Sunday. Born in Essex, England, 90 years ago, Mr. Butler came to Canada in 1920.

Rites will be held at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

NANAIMO — The promise

of a new $3,500,000 hospital was welcomed heartily while a farewell was offered sincerely as hundreds of Nanaimo residents turned out to watch Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross lay the cornerstone of the new Nanaimo Regional General Hospital.

LADYSMITH — The three top riders in the Western horse gymkhana held Saturday at Ladysmith fall fair sponsored by the Lions Club were Joan Addison, Allan Noble (seniors) and Louise Allen (juniors), all of Nanaimo. They received cash awards of $5 each.

Thirty-one beautifully groomed horses participated in 14 events. Most were Cedar Valley Riding Club horses. Judges were Bill Pemberton and Mrs. Alice Walker; ringmaster was Bob Hooper; show organizer, Harold Holmes; announcer, Jim Spence, all of Nanaimo.

$3,500,000 Hospital Cornerstone Laid

The lieutenant-governor used a silver trowel that was presented to him by hospital board chairman Russell H. Inkster and smeared mortar on the granite stone that was inscribed with the date of the event.

The ceremony, held under threatening skies, marked the last time that Mr. Ross will visit the Hub City of Vancouver Island in his official capacity. He told the large gathering of citizens and dignitaries that this was the first time he had had the opportunity to say that he was the people of B.C. from the Alaskan border to the U.S. border that had done so much for him and his wife. He said that the two of them hope they will never again have to work as hard as they have done in the past five years.

Tributes to Mr. and Mrs. Ross were given by Nanaimo's Mayor Pete Maffeo and Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle C. Westwood.

Honor guard for the lieutenant-governor was formed by members of the Sea Cadets, Air Cadets, Boy Scouts and Cubs and members of the Canadian Legion.

The figures are on loan to the museum for study and Mrs. Alexander has promised that they will eventually be given to the museum.

Archaeological Find

Garden Yields Ancient Figures

When Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Alexander started to dig a rose bed at their home at 2858 Inlet, they didn't dream they were about to make an important archaeological discovery.

But they did. They turned up the ashes of an ancient fire, and in them, two stone sculptures, each depicting a human figure sitting up, and holding a bowl in his lap.

Mrs. Alexander informed the provincial museum of the discovery and yesterday the two prehistoric figures were being studied by Wilson Duff, curator of anthropology, and assistant curator Donald Abbott.

Mr. Duff, who in 1956 published a detailed study of this type of stone sculpture, believes such bowls were used by Indian medicine men in their rituals, came originally from the Fraser Valley, and could be from 200 to 1,000 years old.

Although several have been found on Vancouver Island, these are the first found in Greater Victoria. One is 15 inches high, the other nine inches, and the smaller one has been severely discolored by heat.

It was the custom of the local Indians to burn the belongings of a dead person, believing they were sending them to the owner in the land of the dead. Mr. Duff said, and presumably the Alexanders live where an ancient medicine man's belongings were burned. Nothing else was found in the ashes of the old fire. The Fraser and later traded to an Indian doctor from the Victoria area.

nearest known former Indian village on the Gorge.

"The larger figure is one of the most elaborate yet found," Mr. Duff said. "One surprising feature is that it is decorated with carved rattlesnakes on the back, sides and face."

The smaller figure is less detailed, and has a lizard-like animal carved down the length of its back.

The figures are on loan to the museum for study and Mrs. Alexander has promised that they will eventually be given to the museum.

'Illegal' Parking Will Continue

Aid. Elmer McEwen is satisfied that parking meter exemption stickers issued by city hall are actually illegal, he said yesterday, but he won't press to have them revoked.

The stickers are issued to about 45 city officials and about 85 others, including RCMP and other police force officers and officials of the library board, transport department, and provincial provision service, and some handicapped persons.

City Solicitor T. P. O'Grady told aldermen recently they are prohibited from granting exemption from city bylaws by the Municipal Act, and when Aid. McEwen asked if this applied to the meter exemptions, he nodded.

"The exemptions aren't in accordance with the Municipal Act so they're quite illegal," Aid. McEwen said yesterday.

Battle Begins for 'Love' of African Hordes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United States and Russia squared off yesterday for a historic contest for the affections of 64,000,000 newly freed Africans which may determine eventual control of the United Nations.

High American officials said this grim contest for prestige in restless Africa, although not as spectacular as expected fireworks over the disarmament issue, marks a crossroads for the world organization.

The communist bloc for the moment had the heavier propaganda guns on the firing line, headed by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. He was reported by aides to be planning a strong pitch to woo the Africans into neutralism or alignment with the communist bloc.

But U.S. officials were cheered by tactical victories on the African front which they said had badly damaged Russian prestige in that turbulent area. The American officials were placing high hopes on President Eisenhower's speech next Thursday to the general assembly. He is expected to urge the new nations to think and act for themselves, and avoid entrapment in any bloc.

At least 14 new African nations will be admitted to the UN at the session beginning today. This will bring total membership to 97, almost double the 50 which signed the charter 15 years ago.

But even more important, it will raise to 42 the number of Asian-African nations in the UN and give that bloc controlling voice on any issues on which it takes a solid stand.

Khrushchev, who has the monolithic bloc of nine communist states in his pocket and can count on occasional defections from other groups, hungrily eyes the newly expanded Asian-African line-up. It could give him a solid majority on any issue on which he could pull it in. The wooing of the Africans by both sides is expected to be intense.

American officials acknowledge that their "built-in" majority of the past—23 western bloc votes and 20 Latin American ballots—is not enough now. And even the Latin Americans—as witness Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro—cannot be counted on as a solid phalanx.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter believes that events of the past week in Africa and at the UN have considerably weakened Russia's position and hopes that the president can add to the erosion.

Keep South Africa

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker last night said it was "more crucial than ever before" that the British Commonwealth continue as a bridge between the nations of the West and the emerging underdeveloped nations.

Diefenbaker told the second Commonwealth and Empire Law Conference that civilization would suffer if the roots of commonwealth unity were "to wither and die."

REFERENDUM

In a reference to the forthcoming South African referendum to decide whether that nation would become a republic, Diefenbaker gave strong indications that approval would be given by other Commonwealth members for South Africa to stay in the Commonwealth as a republic.

The fact "should be emphasized," Diefenbaker said, that all member states agreed to allow South Africa to apply for Commonwealth membership if it attained republican status. "As consent to membership requires unanimity, these words become significant and important," he added.

EXPRESS VIEWS

It was essential, the prime minister warned, "that Commonwealth countries should not interfere in the internal affairs of any other Commonwealth country." Canadians, however, "may still express our view of what is right and just."

"We will all have to be tolerant of differences," he said. "We will have to face the fact that the varied individual circumstances of the member nations of the Commonwealth may well mean that they will be compelled to adopt a variety of policies to deal with those circumstances."

Surprises Likely In Nikita's Speech

By HENRY SHAPIRO

NEW YORK (UPI) — Immediately after his arrival in New York, Premier Nikita Khrushchev locked himself up in conference with his staff and advisers to put the final touches on his major disarmament speech to be delivered to the United Nations Assembly on Friday.

Informed sources expect the Soviet premier to introduce some new, if not spectacular, proposals to make his plan for total disarmament more acceptable to the West.

He is likely to make a special appeal for the support of the newly-admitted Afro-Asian nations who will be attracted by his offer to use the economies resulting from disarmament to aid underdeveloped areas.

There is no evidence to believe that the Kremlin plans any basic alterations of Khrushchev's grandiose four-year disarmament proposal submitted to the United Nations Sept. 18, 1959 and somewhat modified on June 3, 1960.

In its latest form the Soviet plan calls for a three-stage disarmament program with top priority given to the banning of delivery of nuclear weapons.

Afro-Asian Motion Ends Crisis Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The General Assembly's emergency session, in a surprise vote, early today approved an Afro-Asian resolution backing Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's Congo policy and calling for an end to military aid to the country except through the United Nations.

The vote was 70 to 0 with 11 abstentions. South Africa and France joined the nine-nation Soviet bloc in abstaining.

Passage of the resolution wound up the emergency session of the world parliament summoned into session Saturday night by the United States after the Soviet Union had vetoed a similar resolution in the Security Council.

The emergency session concluded only hours before the Assembly was to start—at noon PDT—its brass-studded regular 15th session with a parade of diplomatic stars of the Communist and neutralist countries headed by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin backtracked in the face of the massive Afro-Asian support thrown behind Hammarskjöld.

The surprise end to the showdown between Russia and the United States was interpreted by most diplomats as a victory for both Hammarskjöld and the United States, helped along by the Kremlin's reluctance to offend the uncommitted countries either of Africa or Asia.

Zorin, at the last moment, withdrew his own resolution which was sharply critical of Hammarskjöld. Then, after offering a series of amendments beefing up the Afro-Asian resolution in Russia's behalf, he withdrew them at the request of Ghana.

To Harlem Castro Stalks Out

NEW YORK (AP)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro stalked angrily out of a New York hotel Monday night, complaining of the prices and his tight security guard.

After a conference with United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, Castro announced that his party was moving to a hotel in the heart of Harlem, New York's Negro district.

PREARRANGED

Edward Spatz, owner of the Hotel Shelburne, where Castro had stayed for 24 hours, charged at a press conference that the departure was "a prearranged propaganda move" designed to embarrass the United States on the eve of the 15th UN General Assembly meeting starting today.

As Castro left, he threatened to impact tests from Cuba and live in Central Park or on the UN grounds.

DISCOURTESY

Cuba's Foreign Minister, Raul Roa, charged that the Castro party had been treated with discourtesy and inhospitability.

Spatz was not available for some time after Castro left the hotel. A spokesman explained that he was at his doctor's office, being treated for an ulcer. Spatz said Sunday he had agreed reluctantly to have Castro and his party as guests at the request of Hammarskjöld and U.S. State Secretary Christian Herter.

The Castro party had taken 20 rooms in the hotel, each at $20 a day.

Laundryman Envoy

Even Congo Delegate Kinda Confused

PARIS (Reuters) — A disgruntled member of one of the two rival Congolese delegations to the United Nations returned here by air from New York Sunday and confessed he found Congolese politics "much too complex."

"I run a laundry," said Robert Kinda, a member of the delegation supporting Patrice

Lumumba and led by Thomas Kanza.

"Fifteen days ago, Kanza—a client of mine for whom I'd done some private work—came and asked if I'd like to serve on the Congolese delegation going to New York," Kinda explained. "I'd never seen the United States and so I accepted."

"Kanza said 'You will be my boy and my secretary and so you will never leave me and you will be able to take part in all of the meetings.' So I closed my shop and I left."

"Then one day in the corridors of the UN I met some other Congolese. They told me they were the only representatives of the Congo government, presided over by Joseph Ileo and named by President Joseph Kasavubu.

"That's all very well. But I am a friend of Kasavubu and I was under the impression that Kanza was obeying his orders."

"Then I learned several days ago that Kasavubu and Lumumba were no longer in power and that a colonel whom I don't know had taken over."

I got confused and decided to return home.

"So I told Kanza who ordered me—in a threatening tone—to stay and continue to obey him. Then I went and placed myself under the protection of the American police."

"The American police hid me until I could come here. 'All I want now is to return to Leopoldville and my laundry,'"

Flood Toll Now 33

ROME (Reuters)—Italy's death toll in four days of storms climbed to at least 33 Monday night with the finding of 11 more bodies as floodwaters began receding in central Italy.

In Rome the stadium where the Olympic Games were held recently was turned into a lake.
